LOCAL MATTER.

E. C. WOODSON, City Editor.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Fraps has his handsome lunch counter in full blast.

There is some talk of macadamizing Wilkinson street. It should be done.

Fifty colored laborers left yesterday morning for Edgemore and Wilson counties.

By reference to advertisement it will be seen why the Weed Sewing Machine is the favorite.

Dr. W. M. Wingate and Prof. W. T.
Walters, of Wake Forest College, were in the city yesterday.

There will be a special Convocation of Raleigh Chapter No. 10, R. A. M., for work, Thursday night.

This city has a lot of the most impudent, trifling and roguish street gamins that ever cursed any place of its size.

W. G. Hill Lodge No. 218, F. and A.
M., will have a special Communication for work, in the third degree, Friday night.

The work of moving the Raleigh Female Seminary goes bravely on. Everything will be in readiness by the time of the opening.

A large number of members of the General Assembly arrived by the trains yesterday. The rest will be in on this morning's train.

We understand that Hillsboro will send a large delegation to attend the grand New Year's Ball in this city tomorrow evening.

Notice is given elsewhere to the subscribers to the capital stock of the North Carolina State Life Insurance Company that a meeting for organization will be held on Friday, the 24th inst.

The hat brim of a little white boy, living in Eastern Ward, was shot off yesterday by the accidental explosion of a gun which he was handling. For a wonder the Coroner and undertaker missed a job.

The January interest on the one, two and three year city bonds will be paid on presentation of coupons at the Raleigh National Bank or State National.
See the advertisement of the City Treasurer in to-day's issue.

Yesterday was decidedly the prettiest day of the season. The weather was mild and spring like, the promenades in tip top order and the ladies were out in numbers, capitol square being thronged in the afternoon.

Fred Olds, Esq., yesterday morning committed a wilful and deliberate murder, armed with a lightwood knot, on the body of an owl, while sitting on the fence just in rear of the Raleigh National Bank.

We were gratified to learn yesterday that the Grand Jury had commenced, in accordance with our suggestion, to investigate the failure of the authorities to keep in proper repair the bridges and crossings on the roads leading into this city.

The card of Geo. H. Snow, Attorney at Law, Raleigh, N. C., will be found in another column. He practices in the State and Federal Courts, and will give prompt attention to the collection of claims. Mr. Snow is a young lawyer of no ordinary ability.

Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, Editor of the "Christian Advocate," occupied the pulpit of Rev. Mr. Mangum's Church on Sunday morning, and preached an able and impressive sermon. Mr. Mangum was prevented by indisposition from filling the appointment.

Not so Slow.—Justice is not so slow in every case. For instance Chick Boots, a notorious rowdy of Winter's Row, knocked down one Luke Thompson, Sunday evening. He was arrested by the Police, taken before the Mayor Monday morning, who sent him on to the Superior Court. The Grand Jury found a true bill on the same day, his trial came up in the afternoon, and he was convicted by a Jury. Judge Watts will doubtless pass sentence to-day.

COMMODORE STANLEY.—Commodore Stanley, of the United States Navy, a brother of the Hon. E. R. Stanley, of this State, is in the city to petition the Legislature to pass some laws for the better protection of the North Carolina coast.

Commodore Stanley holds the government appointment of General Superintendent of all the Light Houses, Boats, &c., on the North Carolina and Virginia Coast.

W. P. BATCHELOR, Esq.—This promising young lawyer yesterday made his maiden effort at the bar. His argument was upon a motion for a new trial for the negroes convicted of burglary in the recent Hicks case. The Judge, in overruling the motion, took occasion to speak in eulogistic terms of Mr. Bat-chelor's speech, characterizing it as an impeccable and able argument, also complimenting highly the assiduousness with which he presented his points of law in sustaining his position.

SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC IN-STRUCTION—ACCEPTANCE OF MR. BAT-CHELOR.—It will be seen from the correspondence below that Gov. Caldwell has appointed Hon. Kemp P. Battle, Superintendent of Public Instruction, which position has been accepted by that gentleman. The correspondence speaks for itself.

RALEIGH, Jan. 14, 1873.

Kemp P. Battle, Esq.:

DEAR SIR:—The office of Superintendent of Public Instruction having become vacant by the death of Rev.
James Reid, it devolves upon me to fill the vacancy. This is an office of great importance to the people of both races, and the success or failure of our common schools is largely dependent upon the qualifications and fitness of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.
After maturely considering the matter in all its aspects, I have determined to accept the office to you. From a long acquaintance, I believe you possess, in an eminent degree, all the qualities and qualifications which are necessary and requisite to make our common schools a success, and that your appointment will give general, if not universal, satisfaction. I am further persuaded that your freedom from political prejudice and intolerance will prompt you to take as much interest, and manifest as much zeal in behalf of the education and cultural culture of one race as your fellow-citizens of the other; and that you will know, or favor, or ignore no one on account of his or her race or previous condition, but that you will administer this office and discharge its duties im-partially, and without favor or fear.

I trust, Sir, that you will accept the accompanying commission, and give me your valuable aid in an honest effort to build up and maintain a good system of common schools in our State.

I am Sir, very truly,

Your obedient servant,

TOD R. CALDWELL,

Governor.

RALEIGH, January 14th, 1873.

His Excellency Tod R. Caldwell, Governor of North Carolina:

DEAR SIR:—After careful deliberation I deem it my duty to accept the position of Superintendent of Public Instruction in North Carolina, which you have so unexpectedly tendered me.

The cause of popular education should be raised above partisan considerations.
Reciprocity and honoring your motives in endeavoring to effect this great object, as shown in the appointment of one not of your own party, I shall labor with earnest desire, as the Constitution provides, to diffuse the light of knowledge equally and impartially among all the youth of the State, without bias of politics or bias of race.

To aid in relieving the intellectual famine of the rising generation, in removing from the State the light of ignorance, in re-kindling the extinguished fires of our venerable University, once so honored and useful, in placing North Carolina abreast with the most cultured of English speaking people, is worthy of the ambition of any man.

Deeply impressed, notwithstanding your favorable opinion, with a sense of my want of the requisite qualifications to accomplish the task, yet intending to bring to the work industry and zeal, I will enter on my duties, relying on the efficient aid, as well as on the co-operation of the Board of Education, the Trustees of the University, and most of all, of the Legislature of the State.

Thanking you for the kind terms of praise with which you accompany my commission, I am,

Very respectfully yours,

KEMP P. BATTLE.

THE GEN'L R. E. LEE MONUMENT.

The grand monument to the memory of Gen'l Lee is now rapidly being constructed under the direction and skill of Prof. Valentine. And in order to complete it at the earliest possible day, the Executive Committee of the Lee Memorial Association, of Lexington, Va., which is composed of such distinguished men as Gen'l Pendleton, Gen'l Terry, Hon. Wm. McLaughlin, Col.
Preston Johnson, Chas. Davidson, and others, have authorized the publication and sale of a perfect steel engraved portrait of Gen'l Lee. The proceeds of its sale to be applied in furtherance of the object of this Association, namely: to the erection of a monument to the memory of Gen'l R. E. Lee, at the Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va. The portrait will be sold only by subscription, through regular authorized agents. Every subscriber for the portrait will receive a certificate signed by the Secretary and Chairman of the Lee Memorial Association. We commend this portrait to the public, and hope some good energetic man will secure the agency in this section in order to help on the good work. Messrs. W.
W. Bostwick & Co., Nos. 177 & 179 West Fourth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio, have been constituted and appointed General Managers of Agencies, and any communications, addressed to them for circulars, terms, and certificates, will receive prompt attention.

BANKRUPT SALE OF REAL ESTATE.— Mr. Richard W. Harris, assignee of Archibald Taylor's estate, advertises today that he will sell at public auction, on the 5th of March next, in Louisville, the track of land on which Archibald Taylor now lives, situated in Franklin county about 4 miles west of Potts' gold mine, and containing 2,271 acres. This is a fine opportunity for those wishing to invest, as it is thought there is a gold mine upon the premises.

SUPREME COURT.—Court met at 10 o'clock, all the Judges present. Mr.
London concluded his argument in the case of Weith & Arents vs. the city of Wilmington.

J. Francis King vs. J. E. Winants, from New Hanover, M. London for plaintiff and Robert Strange for defendant. Case argued at considerable length.

THE BIBLE AGENT AT DURHAM.— The Rev. P. A. Strobel, Bible Agent for North Carolina, addressed a large audience in the Baptist Church at Durham, on Sunday, January, 13th. At the close of the address the Durham Bible Society was re-organized, and the following officers chosen:

President—Rev. J. J. Renn.
Cor. Secretary—John L. Markham.
Treasurer and Depositary—James W.
Cheek.

Executive Committee—Dr. E. Parish, Haywood Andrews and W. P. Hughes.
Eice Presidents—Durham Township, W. W. Gues; Patterson Township, D.
C. Gunter.

In the afternoon the Agent addressed the Freedmen, at the Baptist Church, and organized a Bible Committee amongst them, whose duty it will be to ascertain the destitution amongst their own class, and report it to the Durham Society, who will supply all the books needed.

The Agent preached again at night, in the Methodist Church, to a large and attentive audience.

The Durham Society has hitherto done very little in the Bible cause; but it enters upon the year 1873 with very encouraging prospects. The Agent received in collections and from the Treasurer $40, and the Executive Committee made an order for $90 worth of books to replenish the Depositary. The Society will hereafter limit its operations to the two townships of Durham and Patterson—leaving the other townships in Orange county to be supplied by the County Society centering at Hillsboro, and the Society centering at Chapel Hill. A little systematic and vigorous effort, and a division of labor will soon supply all the destitution in this county.

SUPERIOR COURT.—The Court met at 10 o'clock.

Mr. W. P. Batchelor one of the Counsel for the convicted men of the "Hicks outrage," made a motion for a new trial, in which he cited points of law, and made a happy appeal for his clients. Mr. Batchelor was followed by Messrs. Cox and Lewis, who represented the State, also Col. Edwards for the defense. The Judge overruled the motion.

State vs. Wilson Bridges, for murder, Gen. Cox for the State, and R. H. Bat-cher for defendant. Verdict of the jury, "not guilty of murder, but manslaughter." Judgment of the Court—four years at hard labor in the State prison.

State vs. Matthew Norwood; assault and battery—guilty. Judgment $10 fine and costs.

State vs. Andrew Olive; larceny—guilty. Judgment of Court. In consideration of defendant's youth the probation Judge of the county was ordered to have him apprenticed.

State vs. Champion Mason; trespass —guilty. Sent to the county work house for three months.

INVENTORATE ROGUE.—Last evening about the hour of 8, Joshua Thompson, a young colored man, entered the Shoe and Hat store of C. D. Heatt & Co., and attempted to appropriate a pair of boots. Being discovered, he sought safety in flight.

After running a considerable distance he was overhauled by Mr. W. N. Harris and given lodgings in the guard house, to await an examination this morning. Joshua had just been released from jail in the morning, having served out a term of imprisonment for larceny.

THAT BRANDY.—Several days ago we inwardly resolved to become a teetotaler, and up to last evening we were really astonished at our success. Stepping into the Yarrowburgh House aboat last evening we met a subscriber to the Capital Stock of the North Carolina State Life Insurance Company, that meeting being held at the Raleigh National (Citizens) National Bank, Raleigh, N. C., on Friday, January 24th, 1873, at 10 o'clock.

BANKRUPT SALE OF Valuable Real Estate.

ON WEDNESDAY, the 5th day of March, 1873, I shall sell at PUBLIC SALE for cash, House door in Oxford, in Franklin county, Louisburg in Franklin county, N. C., the

TRACT OF LAND on which Archibald Taylor now lives, situated about four miles west of Potts' gold mine, in Franklin county, N. C., and containing, by Taylor's schedule in Bankruptcy,

2,271 ACRES.

This is a very productive body of land, adapted to the growth of Wheat, Corn, Tobacco, Cotton, &c., a large portion of which is in original growth, and with a large amount of low grounds on it.

The dwelling is large, convenient and commodious, and is situated on a high and healthy site. It is surrounded by many persons that this land has a Gold Mine on it.

The tract of land is very large and valuable, and is sold under an order of the District Judge of the Eastern District of North Carolina, pursuant to the provisions of the Bankrupt law.

I shall sell at Public Auction for cash, to the highest bidder, on MONDAY, the 10th day of March, 1873, at the Court House door in Oxford, in Franklin county, all the right and interest of the said Archibald Taylor, arising under the will of Robert Taylor deceased, in all the property, real and personal, of Robert T. Peuhum, derived under said will, and now in the hands of and under the control of R. C. Taylor.

The property consists of a large Tobacco Factory in Oxford, in Franklin county, and a Gaston Railroad Station, and other effects.

STEARING A DRESS.—Last night Ida Lynn, a young colored girl was arrested on the charge of stealing a dress from one Lucy Moore, colored. The dress being found on Ida's back, she was increased in the lock up and will be interviewed by his Honor the Mayor, this morning.

SHAWL FOUND.—A plaid shawl was picked up last evening in front of Tucker Hall, by a gentleman. The owner can procure the same by calling on the Chief of Police.

Judge Daniel Smyser, of Norristown, Pa., died on Saturday, of apoplexy, at Gettysburg.

MAYOR'S COURT.—John Woodwine, the notorious horse thief, was brought up again before Mayor Whitaker, as J. P., yesterday. Several of the witnesses were examined, and the case concluded by sending the defendant on to the Superior Court.

The National Hotel Bar will always be supplied with the best of wines, whiskies and liquors of all kinds, as well as the best of cigars, which will be served up by our young friend Harrison.

Sad Affair.

From the Wilmington Journal of yesterday we glean the following particulars of a very unfortunate occurrence:
"We regret to learn of a sad affair that occurred near Flemington, on the Wilmington, Columbia & Augusta Railroad, last Saturday night. A freight train had run off the track near that place, one of the cars tearing up the track so that it needed repairing. Capt.
B. W. Wilkins, the section-master, was therefore at work there with his hands until after midnight. Being anxious to finish the work as soon as possible, he had a spade and was himself shoveling the dirt. As they had nearly finished, he spoke to one of the hands and told him to hurry up, and at the same time struck him with the spade, not it is said, at all in anger, but, unfortunately, the blow fell on the back part of the neck and the man fell dead. A physician was at once sent for, but life was extinct.

These are the facts of the unfortunate affair as we heard them detailed.
Beyond this we could learn nothing, not even the name of the unfortunate man.

Since the above was put in type, we have received another version of the sad affair from a friend up the road.
He states that the deceased, whose name was John, was insubordinate to directions given by Captain Wilkins, when the latter struck at him with the huddle of a spade. One report is that the blow fell on the back of the man's head, and another has it that he struck the blow, and in doing so soll and broke his neck. At any rate, his neck was broken and he died at most instantly. A coroner's inquest was held yesterday, but we have not learned the verdict. Dr. Morrison, of Whiteville, who made a post mortem examination, states that, although the man's neck was broken, there was yet no external signs of injury, the scalp and the back of the neck exhibiting no bruise, whatever.

The opinion of the coroner has been sounded that it was broken by a fall.
The deceased was employed on the material train with Mr. Farmer.

Much regret is expressed at the sad affair, and no one who knows him believes, for a moment, that Capt. Wilkins had any idea of inflicting a death blow, or of causing death."

Arkansas Election Matters—Decision of the Court.

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 13.—Judge Caldwell rendered a decision to-day in the case of Judge Harrison, against Gov.
Hardy, and others. He sustains the defendant's demurrer to the jurisdiction of the Court. He says the Court has no jurisdiction under the Enforcement Act of any election, except where the parties have been deprived of their right to vote by reason of race color or previous condition of servitude. In the complainant's bill no averment of this kind is made. He gave leave to the counsel to re-argue the case before a full bench in April, when it is thought Judge Miller of the Supreme Court and Circuit Court Judge Dillon will be present.

Referring to the decision of Judge Durell, of Louisiana, he says the Court in that case decided it had jurisdiction solely on the ground that the averment in the complaint set up that the parties had been deprived of their right to vote by reason of their race, color or previous condition of servitude. In this suit no such averment is made, and the complaint is remitted to the Courts of this State for relief.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

Washington Affairs.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The Senate Committee on patents had before them this morning the bill passed by the House in May last, relieving the heirs of William Graham from all disabilities now existing, and preventing them from renewing or reviving the application of the Administrator of the estate for a certain invention or discovery of a novel method of means for extinguishing fires, &c. Judge Bond, of Chicago, represented the Graham heirs and Judge Lochner, of Georgia, and Judge Barrett, of Washington, the National Fire Extinguisher Company, of New York.

At least a dozen other gentlemen interested in the Fire Extinguishers were present. The Committee considered that as it had been so long since Graham made his application, namely, 1837, the entertaining of the proposition would work injustice to those who have embarked their capital in the new Fire Extinguisher Companies. They therefore unanimously ordered that the bill ought not to pass the Senate.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS AND GLEANINGS.

THE DEMAND FOR A HISTORY OF THE STATE. We are pleased to see that our State exchanges have again entered upon an animated discussion of this subject. The Wilmington Star of the 12th prefaces some well timed remarks on "the State Historian" as follows: "A year ago 'The Morning Star' with other papers, urged upon Gov. Graham, or some other patriotic and talented son, to undertake the writing of a standard 'History of North Carolina.' That distinguished gentleman was unable, owing to business engagements, to comply with the wishes of his fellow citizens; and none of the several others qualified for the task has volunteered to perform the important work."

A year rolls around and the question is again agitated, the Raleigh News leading off.

The Star then suggests the name of Haywood W. Guion, Esq., and Mrs. Cornelia Phillips Spencer as eminently qualified for the work, and urges upon the Legislature the propriety of making a modest appropriation and of designating the proper individual to perform the labor. The Star concludes: "Let the subject be canvassed. The History of North Carolina must be written. That proposition is the starting point."

WHAT THE SOUTH WANTS.—On this subject, the Statesville Intelligencer makes an appeal for labor as the great desideratum. That paper says that the crops have been good throughout the South, and the only drawback to our material advancement is "the want of disciplined labor."

There are now in the city of Raleigh, farmers from Edgecombe, in search of cotton laborers, who report that the farms in their section are not more than two-thirds supplied with hands. It is a general complaint in Eastern Carolina that more colored laborers are gleaning about than usual. This is a great nuisance, for idleness and crime will go hand and hand, and produce poverty and suffering as well as increase vice and dishonesty.

THE CREDIT MOBILIZER.—The Wilmington Star speaking of the Credit Mobilizer brand, says: "There is no high source of honor in Congress. It is a demagogue's parliament—a thieves' legislature."

On the same subject, the Renoise News says: "Mr. Ames goes so far as to acknowledge that he did dispose of shares in the Association at a reduced rate, with the view as he avows to 'influence legislation' that they would take enough interest in the Road to prevent its embarrassment. That this was no more nor less than wholesale bribery is patent to the least suspicious, yet Mr. Ames has the effrontery to characterize it as a legitimate transaction."

YOUNG MEN.—The Warrenton Gazette has some practical suggestions to young men, and concludes very prettily as follows: "The best living is made from the ground. The lap of Mother Earth is strewn with precious gifts for all her children, and a rich harvest will reward their diligent search. She never yet failed to kiss with affection the hand that treated her generously, or reward with her richest treasures him who feeds her liberally, cultivates her soil judiciously, and nurses her tenderly. In the green glades and grassy dell, where the red deer wanders; in the deepest valleys where the rills murmur; upon the hill tops where the storm clouds burst in all their sublimity, and the thunders roll, even here and everywhere does the earth yield her fruits for the benefit of man."

CASH AND CREDIT.—The Tarboro Engineer on the subject of "Cash and Credit" explains why it is country merchants are compelled to charge higher prices when they give credit for the whole year, than the city merchants, who sell to the farmers for cash or produce in hand. The argument is sensible and to the point.

VANDALISM AT CHAPEL HILL. Col. W. L. Saunders, one of the Editors of the Wilmington Journal, has given in an editorial correspondence from Chapel Hill, a very full and detailed statement of the ruins of the University buildings, under the management of Rev. Solomon Pool, the present nominal President.

Col. Saunders made a tour of inspection through the college grounds, and publishes the result of his observations in a letter which occupies more than two columns of the Journal.

For the information of our readers, we condense some of the evidences of destruction of the University property, regretting that our space will not allow us to publish the letter in full.

The steps of the gate leading to the College buildings at the entrance next to the hotel were found broken and sunken.

The beautiful walk leading up to the old East building had grown up with grass and weeds.

The steps up the terrace to the north end of the East Building, have rotted and sunk down.

The old Philanthropic Hall was found unlocked—the windows open, as were the doors and windows of the old Library—the glass and sash broken—the latter in many instances entirely gone.

The following description of these rooms answers substantially for all the rest: "The doors were swinging, some with their panels stayed in and others without. As a general rule, the floors of the rooms and passages were covered with fallen plastering, and it is presumed will continue to be, as long as the walls and ceiling are exposed to the moisture of successive winter rains. The northeast corner of the roof was knocked off by the falling of a tree some time ago. It is difficult to imagine a building, in an inhabited, civilized country, in a worse or more disgraceful condition."

The Philanthropic Library was next visited. Here four windows were found open on one side and five on the other. The Library at one time contained seven thousand volumes. The examination was made after the close of a rainy spell, and the exposure of the books to weather must necessarily injure them materially.

The South Hall or Ball Room, which now contains the College Library, was closed, but on the north side eighteen panes of glass were broken, and fourteen on the south side. Upon the ground "laid the remains of a glass jar, and several little snakes or reptiles of some sort, some fish or other curious things that had evidently been prepared in alcohol for some purpose or other."

The doors and windows of South Building were generally open, with glass broken, sash and panels broken or altogether missing; the floors were covered with fallen plastering, and upon the walls were found writings of the most obscene character.

The cabinet of minerals in Prof. Phillips' old recitation room did not escape the general wreck. The drawers containing the specimens were unlocked or open, and the specimens scattered around. The cabinet was once very valuable, and according to the catalogue contained over two thousand specimens of minerals, collected from all quarters of the known world. This cabinet was purchased in Europe many years ago by President Caldwell at a heavy expense.

Girard Hall or the Chapel, the old West Building, the new West Building and Person Hall, were each visited in turn, and the same old story is told of broken glass, open doors, panels and sash gone, &c., &c., ad nauseam.

President Pool is held responsible for this disgraceful state of affairs. If the account given by Col. Saunders be true, and it no doubt is true literally, then has Mr. Pool been guilty of gross dereliction of duty and has been made himself amenable as a public officer.

The destruction of the University property calls for investigation and public rebuke, and offers the strongest and most unanswerable arguments in favor of a change in the management of the Institution.

There is not now nor has been in twelve months a single student at the University, as we learn from the Journal, and Mr. Pool is the only remaining member of the Faculty. We presume he draws his salary all the same. Is he not satisfied with his work of demolition and desolation? Will he thrust himself longer in the way, as an obstacle to the education of the young men of North Carolina?

A GOOD APPOINTMENT.

It will be seen from the correspondence in our local columns to-day, that Gov. Caldwell has appointed Hon. Kemp P. Battle, of this city, Superintendent of Public Instruction, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Rev. James Reid.

This is one of Gov. Caldwell's official acts that we can cordially endorse. We regard Mr. Battle as the right man in the right place. Mr. Battle is a Conservative in politics, but is endowed with qualifications for the position possessed by few men in the State. The office being non-partisan in its character, Gov. Caldwell has acted wisely and well in selecting a gentleman so well fitted by education, talents, energy, practical judgment and patriotic zeal, for the highly responsible position of Superintendent of Public Instruction.

In his letter Mr. Battle says truly: "To aid in relieving the intellectual famine of the rising generation, in removing from the State the blight of ignorance, in rekindling the extinguished fires of our venerable University, once so honored and useful, in placing North Carolina abreast with the most cultivated of English-speaking people, is worthy the ambition of any man."

With such motives animating him, we doubt not our new Superintendent of Public Instruction will inaugurate a new era in the educational history of the State, and we look for the most gratifying results from his efforts.

The Berm Post of Saturday, in an article evidently inspired by the Government, says that the proclamation of the dogma of Papal infallibility has created a new Catholic creed, and "its believers should be treated in the same manner as members of other new religious societies."

The Paris Journal Officiel announces the appointment of Corcelles as French Ambassador at the Vatican, in place of Bourgoing, who resigned.

Burns and Dunston, colored, convicted of rape, were hanged at Jefferson, Ga., on Saturday. Burns confessed his crime, but Dunston asserted his innocence.

JOHN POOL AFTER CRESWELL'S PLACE.

John Pool, the expiring Senator from North Carolina, is working very energetically to secure a place in the President's Cabinet.

He has obtained from the Radical party in this State, a certificate of meritorious conduct for services rendered in defeating Vance, and his recommendation for the position of Post Master General is said to be numerously signed by leading Southern Radical politicians.

Mr. Pool claims to office with a death-like tenacity. As he vacates his seat in the United States Senate he is anxious to step into a snug berth in the President's Cabinet.

It is said his chances for obtaining Creswell's position are very good, as the President is disposed to reward him for his eminent services, sacrifices and patriotic labors for the Radical party in North Carolina.

The following is the certificate which Senator Pool took to Washington City in his pocket, from the Republican members of the Legislature:

SENATE CHAMBER,
Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 13, 1872.

At a Republican caucus held in the Senate Chamber, December 13, 1872, it was resolved by the Republican members of the General Assembly of North Carolina, in joint caucuses assembled, that, for his many services to the Republican party in this State and in the Union, for his labor in behalf of equal rights, and for his efforts in the Senatorial contest, which mainly brought about the defeat of the Democratic nominee, Hon. John Pool is entitled to the thanks of the nation, and especially to the thanks of the Republicans of North Carolina.

It was further resolved that a copy of this resolution be furnished the Hon. John Pool.

(For the Daily News, Burke County—its Climate and Its Advantages.)

Mr. Editor: Will you allow me a short space in your valuable paper to say a few words for Burke. I do not think that even the Buncombeites will doubt the assertion, that we have the finest climate in the State. We have a fine, pure atmosphere, free from the extremes to which the counties west of the Ridge are subjected. Morganton, the county seat, has been since the war quite a summer resort for persons from Eastern North Carolina and South Carolina. In this connection I will mention two valuable Springs, "Glen Alpine" and "Palm Springs." The first, Glen Alpine, is situated thirteen miles south of Morganton, at the base of the South Mountains, and is owned by Col. T. G. Walton, C. F. McKesson and Robert McKee. There are no improvements at these Springs, but the Proprietors give persons permission to erect cabins on the premises. Several families availed themselves of this opportunity the past season. I have never seen an analysis of the waters, but understand that it contains "Lithia." Certain it is that it contains some powerful remedial agent that cures chronic diseases in an incredibly short time. I believe that Colonel Walton has certificates from several persons who have been benefited by these waters; one from a prominent gentleman of this State, who has been an invalid for a number of years, and consulted the best medical authority in the United States, says that he has derived material relief, if not a permanent cure. "Palm Springs" is situated sixteen miles north of Morganton, and is owned by Mr. Gabriel Pearce. It is a chalybeate sulphur spring, the waters of which are very fine. Mr. P. tells me that he intends improving in the Spring, preparatory to the entertainment of guests next summer. Persons desirous of visiting these places can always find means of transportation in Morganton. The mineral resources of Burke are as great, if not greater than any county in the State. Mica in considerable quantities has been found on the lands of Mr. Huffman, about ten miles from Morganton. Mr. Nottingham Murphy, of Philadelphia, who has examined specimens of this mica, says that it is equal to, if not superior to that of Mitchell county. Graphite has been found in the county, but in what quantity or quality I am unable to say. I see that soapstone is being used in the manufacture of stoves, and I would call the attention of capitalists to the fact that a very superior quality is to be found in Burke. One quarry is at or near Glen Alpine Springs, also one twelve or fifteen miles north of Morganton. I understand that "Asbestos" has been found on the lands of Mr. John Rutherford. Messrs. Sprague & Bond have commenced the manufacture of white pine shingles on Johns River, about thirteen miles from Morganton. These shingles are superior to the ordinary shingle in every respect. They have already had several large orders.

The principal crops of Burke are wheat and corn, though for the past few years considerable attention has been paid to the culture of tobacco. I heard a prominent farmer say that he believed that cotton could be raised advantageously in the eastern portion of the county.

Our citizens are getting up a petition to the Legislature asking the passage of an act prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors within one mile of the Court House. This is a move in the right direction, and I hope that it will meet the hearty concurrence of both Houses of our State Assembly. I may at some future time speak of the gold resources of Burke.

On Friday, the court for the trial of Mrs. E. G. Wharton, at Annapolis, adjourned until Monday morning to enable the law officers to summon additional talemens. The first four days' proceedings, from Monday to Thursday, inclusive, resulted in the determination of a number of preliminary law points upon the decision of which the continuance of the prosecution depended.

On Friday, a panel of fifteen veniremen were examined on their voir dire, and five obtained.

Subscription lists have been opened at the news paper offices in Milan, for funds to erect a monument to the Emperor. It was the first city liberated from Austrian rule by the French troops after the battle of Magenta.

THE SENTENCE OF THE MODERN BORGIA.

Lydia Sherman, who was tried at New Haven, Conn., for the murder of her husband by poison and convicted of murder in the second degree, was on Saturday sentenced to imprisonment for life. She received the sentence with indifference, and appeared cheerful and happy. Her nonchalance seems to have puzzled the people of New Haven, but probably she was rejecting at her fortunate escape from the gallows. The evidence against her was conclusive, and rumor, of course, accuses her of other similar crimes, and attributes to her, as usual, the character of a Borgia. The man Johnson, who murdered his landlady, Mrs. Hess, because she detained his clothes for a debt, was also tried at New Haven Saturday, and found guilty of murder in the first degree. It would be hard if out of these two murders the people should be denied the excitement of at least one execution.

Liville, first officer of the wrecked ship Golden Hind, who has just arrived in this country from Rio, says that the vessel was wrecked on the west coast of Patagonia in June last, and fourteen of the crew spent forty-eight days in two open boats in the Straits of Magellan. They were compelled by hunger to devour the bodies of five of their companions who died from privation and exposure.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Wilmington still raves over the coming of Joe Jefferson.

During the past week Wilmington digested 53 hives, 19 hogs, 19 sheep and 3 calves.

The small pox has almost disappeared from the neighborhood of Rockingham, Richmond county.

The good people of Robeson county want a change in the time for holding the regular terms of their Court.

The antiquarian of the Wilmington Star was made happy the other day by being shown an insurance receipt dated 1753.

The wife of W. P. Welch, Esq., Senator in the present General Assembly, died at her husband's residence recently. Mr. Welch himself has been seriously ill.

A collision of freight trains occurred on the Wilmington, Augusta & Columbia railroad, near Mars Bluff, on Saturday. Conductor Griffin had his leg broken.

Wilmington pays $12,000 per annum for street hands. The expenditure of this amount should certainly keep the streets of that small town in good repair. Raleigh hardly spends over $15,000 yearly for the same kind of work.

The question, "does Goldsboro need a few more bar rooms?" is asked by the Messenger? We reply in the affirmative. Keep on having new establishments until one is had where something fit to drink can be had.

The city of Wilmington and county of New Hanover has a debt of $626,021.69. The bonded city debt amounts to $564,200. The bonded county debt amounts to $54,821.69.

The Warrenton Gazette, of a late date, thus refers to the establishment of a brewery at Ridgeway, to which we have already briefly referred:

"The fact is not generally known that Mr. Charles Petar, an English gentleman, has established an Ale Brewery at Ridgeway. This is something new, not only in Warren, but in North Carolina. Friends of ours, whose tastes can be relied on, assure us that the Ale is excellent in quality, and that it is sold at the low price of fifty cents per gallon. We are gratified, on every account, that this branch of manufacturing has been established in Warren, and we sincerely hope that the enterprise will reward the proprietor. Besides adding to the business of the community, it will tend to wean our people from the bad practice of excessive whisky drinking. It is a well known fact that English people owe much of their robust health and vigor to the habitual use of Ale, not merely as a convivial beverage, but as an article of food.

"Mr. Petar has also bought the Ridgeway vineyard and nursery, and within three months he has manufactured several thousand bottles of superior wine.

"We take pleasure in saying that Mr. Petar is an intelligent and cultivated man, and that our country is to be congratulated upon such accessions to its population."

Guardian Mutual Life of New York.
This Company, recently consolidated or amalgamated with the Widows' and Orphans' Mutual Benefit Life, and the Mutual Protection Life, exhibited a most commendable care for all policy holders before closing the transactions of amalgamation. A committee, consisting of Judge William Betts, Charles A. Raymond and Sheppard Homas, carefully examined and investigated into the legality of the contract, and into the financial condition of assets and liabilities, and unanimously recommended the consolidation.

Amalgamation of some of the companies is the necessary consequence of the character of the business of life insurance for the last few years, and can not be too highly commended, and where guarded with the great care shown in the case of Widows' and Orphans', it becomes, in the language of the Massachusetts Commissioner of Insurance, "the most advantageous thing that can be done for the policy holders." The same officer remarked that "reinsurance does not put an end to the legal existence of a company," and in this case, the policies of the Widows' and Orphans' Mutual Benefit Life are preserved in all their rights and privileges, the assets of that company being reinforced by the large assets already accumulated by the Guardian Mutual, making combined or total assets over six millions of dollars.

The Guardian Mutual is represented in Baltimore by Messrs. Blackford & Clarke, formerly the General Managers of the Widows' and Orphans'. These gentlemen are doing a fine business, and have exhibited a most commendable zeal in looking after the interests of the policy-holders of the Widows' and Orphans'.

We cannot too pointedly advise every policy-holder of the Widows' and Orphans' who may be approached by other agents for the transfer of insurance, to turn a deaf ear to all such approaches, until after full consultation with the officers of the Guardian, or Messrs. Blackford & Clarke, General Agents for the Southern States, - Baltimore Enquirer.

A. Syme, Esq., is the General Agent for this Company in this State, with office in Raleigh, N. C.

People of all parties, including a considerable number of negroes, united in a great demonstration in Madrid, on Friday last, in favor of the abolition of slavery, and of other proposed political reforms in Porto Rico. A long procession was formed, which, with music and banners, passed through the principal streets of the city. The efforts of the Carlist insurgents are most persistent, and apparently irrepressible. It is now said that the inhabitants of various villages of Spain, are voluntarily organizing, and have in several cases successfully opposed the Carlist bands.

Nearly seven thousand men and one thousand horses are gathering in on the Hudson river, and it averages eleven inches in thickness. About nine thousand and five hundred tons are gathered per day. The crop will reach fifteen hundred thousand tons, and will be gathered by the first of February.

From the New York Herald of Jan. 10.

Death of Louis Napoleon the Third.

The death of Louis Napoleon to-day is the subject of much conversation, the theme of innumerable newspaper articles and a world-wide sensation. That it should be so is not matter for wonder. No one man for the last twenty-five years has figured so largely before the world. He was the head of a great nation, the acknowledged chief of a great people. Forty millions of Frenchmen recognized his authority, and a million of bayonets were ever at his command. Since 1848, but particularly since 1852, his word has been law to a great nation—a nation which has priced itself in being the pivotal Power of Europe. It was a favorite saying of the deceased Emperor that when France was contented the world was at rest. His knowledge of the French character was profound and thorough; he knew how to humor it; and hence he was strong. It was natural that the wrath of such a man should be dreaded, and that his favor should be courted. For twenty years, it is fair to say, he was believed to be the umpire, the arbiter and the master of Europe. It was his own belief, it was the world's belief, that he was the favorite child of fortune. He was, in some respects, even more than his uncle the Czar of the modern world. He seized power and he held it for many years with a vigorous hand. His election as President of the Republic in 1848 was somewhat of a surprise to the world; the coup d'etat was an insult to France; but the world got over the surprise, and France forgot the insult; and the result was that France found prosperity under a Second Empire, and the world learned an invaluable lesson from a new, vigorous and practical teacher. For a time, after France accepted him as chief, he was laughed at, ridiculed and caricatured as a lucky parvenu, as a fortunate imbecile. But the man had faith in himself and bided his time. His first grand revelation of strength was when, in connection with Great Britain, he snubbed the aggressive spirit of Russia and added the Crimea to the other numerous names which gave glory to France; glory to the Empire and glory to the house of Bonaparte. The Crimean war established him on his throne, the French people adored him and the crowned heads of Europe did him homage. The fall of Sebastopol and the peace which followed made the name of Napoleon, for the second time, a power in Europe, and from that time all idle talk about the parvenu and the imbecile ceased. The Bonaparte dynasty was by universal consent re-established; France was again the mistress of the nations, and Paris was the fashionable capital of the world. It is not our business in this article to enter into all the details of the late Emperor's public career since his advent to power. We cannot, however, in this connection refrain from mentioning his Italian campaign in 1859-60, when, placing himself at the head of his armies he crushed the power of Austria at Magenta and Solferino, at once giving expression to his theory of the unification of nationalities and paving the way for the practical unity of Italy. This again, was a great personal triumph, and it was flattering to France as it was gratifying to himself. It was not unnaturally felt that the star of Austerlitz shone over the destinies of the Second Empire. In 1860 what monarch in Europe was so powerful as the Emperor of the French? His nationality theories found fresh expression in his Mexican campaign; but his Mexican campaign proved a failure, and with that failure began his troubles. The tide had reached its ebb and was now receding; it never turned again in his favor. He began to yield to popular clamor, and the French people, with their usual fickleness, proved ungrateful. France had now a Parliament and the press was unchecked, and Parliament and press combined him to seek the rectification of frontiers. The Rhine boundaries question resulted in a fresh failure. Prussia would not yield and the Emperor would not fight. The late war, it is now well known, was undertaken against his will; and with the results of that war the reading public is familiar. France was ingloriously defeated, the Bonaparte dynasty was dethroned and now the exiled Emperor is dead. His death does not effect values in any money market in the world. His death at any time between 1852 and 1870 would have produced not only national but world-wide financial ruin.

Now that the Emperor is no more all manner of things, just and unjust, will be said regarding him. It will be held by not a few that he was a fraud and a failure. It is not our opinion that he was either the one or the other. His ability, so long doubted, has long since been established. That for twenty years he ruled France well and gave France prosperity nor even his enemies can refuse to admit. The condition of France to-day is the best possible proof of the wisdom of the policy pursued in the earlier years of the Empire. If he yielded to popular clamor and granted to the French people more liberty than they knew rightly how to use, the blame, if blame there was, was more theirs than his. In most difficult circumstances he did what seemed to him best. If he has left France in chaos he has left the world a legacy of good. It was he, more than any other man, made Italy a unit, and we know no unprejudiced mind that will refuse to admit that the unity of Italy has been a gain to the cause of progressive civilization. It is he who, by his teachings and by the persistent and practical development of his theories, brought about the unification of Germany; and, although the unification of Germany implied the temporary humiliation of France, German unity must be regarded as a world's benefit. In the council room and in the field of battle this man, who is now no more, proved himself great; and it is not unfair to say that his "Life of Julius Caesar" furnishes abundant evidence that, while thinking of himself, of his family and of France, in all that he did and said, he wrote, he thought even more of the destinies and the welfare of mankind. No ruler in these times has figured so greatly; no one has told so much on his day and generation, nor has any one revealed so much searching and far-reaching thought. If he failed, he failed as only his uncle failed, as Caesar failed, and as hundreds of great men have failed before him. He is gone, but his works remain, and in the great future we feel satisfied that while his faults will be forgotten his works will be regarded as the best and most enduring monument. What France thinks of his death we only begin to learn;

but, unless we greatly mistake, his death will produce deep and genuine sorrow. France wronged the Emperor by the death, and France will yet see and confess her error. The restoration of the Empire is rendered more certain by the death of the Emperor.

WAITING.

I have two little angels waiting for me On the beautiful banks of the crystal sea; Not impatiently wait my darlings there, For smiles light up their brows so fair; And their little hands ring out so clear, So sweetly sweet to faith's listening ear, And they live in the smile of the Saviour's love, Who so early called my darlings above.

I have two little angels waiting for me On the beautiful banks of the crystal sea; Forever free from sorrow and pain, Spotless and pure from all earthly stain; Never in erling paths to rove, Safe in the bosom of infinite love, Evermore, evermore waking in light, Those beautiful angels waiting in white.

I have two little angels waiting for me On the beautiful banks of the crystal sea; When my weary heart is throbbing with pain, And I faint would sleep my darlings again, I look away from this earthly strand To the beautiful fields of the "Better Land"; I will think of the angels waiting there, And offer to God a thankful prayer.

I have two little angels to welcome me When I too shall sleep by the crystal sea; When the Great Refiner His image may trace In the heart He has won by His saving grace, And in the robes of Christ's own righteousness, My soul shall seek the home of the blest— On the beautiful banks of the crystal sea, My darlings, still waiting, shall welcome me.

The fourth cat show has just taken place at the Crystal Palace, London. Tabby was in all her glory, and her comports was duly and carefully considered. On a raised platform, which occupied a great place between the marble basin and the centre of the building, stood a long range of light, strong, commodious pens, each handsomely furnished with a raised cushion of crimson baize, a delf basin for purposes of refreshment, and a selection of fine gravel in a kind of lane at the back. Two hundred and eighty-four cats were on exhibition, and a constant stream of admiring ladies defiled before them. There were forty separate classes of cats, but the grand distinction was into the "short haired" and the "long haired" species. Here were Java and Mau cats, pure Siamese cats, a royal extraction, coming of a race, the males of which the King of Siam never permits to leave the royal premises. As this royal animal's value at two thousand five hundred dollars—a neat little sum for a cat—she is worth describing, and the London Spectator grows quite poetical in admiration:

She is an exquisitely beautiful creature, with wonderful limbs and head and ears, with an indescribable gracefulness, as of a fairy queen among cats, and for like the richest seal skin in the first faint tinge of the lurking yellow suggests itself and the brown. Indolent, but perfectly aware that she is the observed of all observers, she lies upon her supplementary cushion in the warmth of the crimson and gold, with one soft brown leg and languid paw curved, half open, round her breast, like the hand of fine lady from which a fan has just dropped.

A woman named Barker, died in Brooklyn on Saturday, from the effects of kerosene thrown on the stove by a man named Barr.

There were two hundred and seven deaths in Boston last week, of which fifty-six were from small pox.

Joseph H. Whitney, lawyer, Boston, is under arrest, charged with forging a note for $10,000.
